From the Baron & Baroness

Greetings Unto the wonderful People of Aneasa

We send you this festive missive as We travel back to the highlands after spending some time in the Southern fields.

A grand time was spent at Master Healfdane's and Lord Rhys' coming of ages tourney. Much fun was had, by not only the heavy combatants, but by the dancers and singer's among us who took over the field once the combatants had quit the field well sated.

A mighty feast was then held, in a grand Arthurian tradition, with lots of food and much revelry. Many brave souls did take up quests this night and have but a year and a day to fulfil their tasks. Should these brave and noble gentles cross your paths then We ask you to wish them well and assist them should they call upon your aid.

With the festive season almost upon us, We would like to send Our heartfelt wishes to you and your kin. And hope that it is a safe yet Merry time for you all

“Happy Yule Tide”

from the Office of the Chronicler

Greetings unto the fair populous of Anzala.

I am still looking for articles, artwork and photos to publish. As most of my distribution will be E-Vine I would prefer documents emailed or on disc but I will accept paper copies if necessary.

chronicler@anzala.sca.org.au

I don't have any problems reading MS Word documents but please save any MS Publisher documents in 95 format.

Generally the last day for receiving items for Vine will be the Sunday after Baronial Council. After this I cannot guarantee publication until the following month.

Gradually bring honey to the boil
Combine spices
