Baronial Missive

Unto the populace of our glorious Barony of Aneala do Lachlahn and Jane send greetings.

February has proved to be rather quiet on the events front, but the Barony has been a veritable hive of activity in the weeks leading up to our 20th Birthday celebration. In the midst of planning for this event and for the expedition to Rowany Festival, a number of members of the populace have been hard at work making surcoats for our fighters, so that we may make a magnificent impression on the field of war. Particular thanks must go to Baroness Catherine and Mistress Evelyn for their expertise in directing the endeavour and undertaking much of the construction, and to Lady Kerridwen and Lord Donnchadh, also Baroness Catherine and Baron Nathan, for the use of their premises for the sewing workshops. Thanks and appreciation to those gentles who attended the workshops and provided us with their sewing skills and their company (or their tasty and restoring beverages brewed from darkly roasted beans!)

This weekend sees the culmination of months of preparation and planning, in the celebration of Aneala's 20 years as a Barony. The event promises to be a most spectacular occasion, filled with memories relived and memories in the making. We look forward to sharing the revelry with our populace as we honour the past score of years and usher in the next.

Looking to the future, the College of St Basil the Great will be holding the annual Newcomers' feast in March. Our Herald tells us that a great deal of interest has been generated in the College, and we encourage all gentles to attend this feast, to welcome new members of the populace.

Hard on the heels of the Newcomers' feast, His Excellency will be setting off with an expeditionary force to attend upon Their Majesties at Rowany Festival and to join the massing armies on the field of war. That they shall return victorious and with many tales of glory, 'tis a convocation devoutly to be wished.

Yours in service,

Lachlahn — Baron

Jane — Baroness

So Spoke the Seneschal

I am pleased to say that we are moving along quite quickly. The officers of the barony are doing a splendid job. Councils are fun long but fun we live in times of change come enjoy the ride.

The Anealan War Surcoat Workshops have been a great success with the team coming together in a spirit of co-operation to produce what can only be described as works of art. The heraldic tourney at festival will be a remarkable sight. Thanks to Baroness Catherine for organising this endeavour.

I have particularly liked the way the group went "well we are finishing up the surcoats what's next". And what's next was two things, an Anealan war standard and the lining for the Baronial pavilion. Hopefully like the surcoats we can use Donnchadh and Keridwen's Casa. Oh and the Baron made coffee in a machine he brought with him yum.

The Anealan Militia is forming under the captaincy of Lord Conan if you haven't heard about this talk to him. Basically it's about forming a place for new people to belong until they find their feet in the SCA similar to the grogs they need support and friendship. In line with this thinking Lord Heath is forming an Anealan war league which will bring the combat focus back to war and melee making it easier for new people to have fun.

Already we look forward to seeing new people come into the SCA via the UWA O'day held on the 23rd of February, which reminds me, the college Newcomers Feast is on the 17th of March I would ask that you support this event with entertainment and friendship. No shit stories are always good as long as they are positive and uplifting or poke fun at me.

The Shire of Bosenberg Kubb Championship being run under the sponsorship of the King and Queen is also on 17 March in Bunbury. The two groups have made a fun day for all who want a full day of fun, Kubb in Bunbury and Feast in South Perth. Fun, games, good people and feasting and dancing all the things that make up a great day of medieval merriment.

Hope to see you all at the Anealan 20years a Barony weekend
